

Dear John,

Many years ago, my father began bottling Knappogue Castle Irish Whiskey. His goal was simple...to show the world how wonderful Irish whiskey could be by bottling only the very best. He gave me the responsibility of carrying on this tradition. With the help of the finest distillers and craftsmen, we have done everything possible to continue to produce truly exceptional Irish whiskey. I am honored to share this part of my family heritage with you. As you drink this remarkable spirit, I hope that you and those with whom you share it savor the quality and proud tradition of Knappogue Castle Irish Whiskey.

Sláinte,

A handwritten signature in black ink, which appears to read 'Mark Anheuser', is written below the text.